Strike Called Off At Westinghouse

Confusion Still Exists In Lima Over New Assembly Line Setup

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A national sympathy strike of the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers against Westinghouse Electric Corp. was called off today, but some confusion existed here and in Lima, Ohio.

The Westinghouse conference board, governing body of union workers employed by Westinghouse, ordered an end to the three-day walkout last night under an agreement signed by International President James B. Carey.

But the biggest CIO-IUE local in the Westinghouse chain, Local 601 at East Pittsburgh, refused to halt its five-week strike which touched off the national stoppage.

Elsewhere, striking workers began streaming back to their jobs. Some 33,000 CIO-IUE members at 26 plants in nine states had struck in support of Local 601.

Back-to-work reports indicated no local opposition to the union order to end the sympathy strike.

However, a dispute involving production line assembly was holding up a return to work of 2,300 employees at the company's Lima plant. Pickets were still on duty.

OFFICIALS of Lima Local 724 said installation of the line for assembly of certain types of industrial motors caused some workers to be put in lower pay classifications. The company said it had conferred with the union before putting in the assembly line.

Meanwhile, Local 601 called a meeting of its shop steward, a meeting of a group of employees who started the walkout and also a general membership meeting for this afternoon. The local did not disclose what action was planned.

Local 601, which has about 10,000 members, continued picketing. It started the walkout Aug. 8 after 2,200 day workers quit work to protest a company time study of their jobs.

Under the agreement announced by Carey, the time study question was made a part of the bargaining talks opening today. Previously the talks were to have been confined to wages only under the current two-year contract. The agreement gave the union the right to strike over the time study question if no solution is found.

Local 601 contended the study was in violation of the contract in that the company was attempting to eliminate jobs. Westinghouse maintained the program was a management right.

Under the contract and the time study agreement, the union will have the right to strike Oct. 15 if no settlement is reached on wages or the study issue.

The union hasn't made public its pay demands. Wage rates of employees have not been disclosed.

Adenauer Seeks OK On Compact

Russian Agreement Studied In Berlin

BONN, Germany (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer pressed today to line up home-front support for his Moscow agreement to establish diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union.

Back at his desk for the first time since his return from the Soviet capital, Adenauer filled in his cabinet on talks with Soviet Premier Bulganin.

To become effective, the pact must be ratified by the Bundestag (lower house) of West Germany's Parliament as well as by the President of the Supreme Soviet.

While Soviet Premier Bulganin's verbal promise to return German prisoners has naturally been welcomed in Bonn, some politicians voiced doubt about the wisdom of exchanging ambassadors.

They argued this would imply acceptance of a division of Germany into rival states.

This feeling was heightened by the sudden Soviet announcement that East Germany's Communist Premier Otto Grotewohl, would arrive in Moscow tomorrow for talks in the Kremlin.

THIS WAS SEEN as a Russian move to reassure the East German Communists they are not being abandoned and to refute Adenauer's claim that only his freely elected government is competent to speak for all Germany.

While Adenauer received a hero's welcome home, many questioned whether his mission to Moscow assured German unity.

West German officials, meanwhile, pushed plans to receive the thousands of war prisoners Adenauer said the Kremlin had promised to release. He said he expected the release to start almost immediately.

Ike's Card-Playing Buddies Awaited

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower looked forward to the arrival late today of a group of golf and bridge-playing pals invited to his vacation headquarters for a long weekend of relaxation.

Most of the guests are top business executives from the East with whom the President takes it easy when he visits the Augusta National Golf Club in Georgia.

But two of them are newcomers to the Eisenhower circle. They are Francis Oumet of Wellesley Hills, Mass., 1913 winner of the National Open Golf Tournament, and Charles R. Yates, former British Amateur champion who now is in the textile business in Atlanta.

Cheetah Goose, Jug Entrant, Due To Appear

Overflowing Crowd Turns Out For Festival Of Bands

The 1955 Pickaway County Fair will pick up full momentum this evening with the first of three nights of harness racing.

Interest among the sulky fans rose rapidly last night when it was announced that Cheetah Goose, three-year-old pacer owned by George Van Camp, will race in the first of the three evening programs.

Cheetah Goose has been entered in the Little Brown Jug classic, scheduled for Delaware Sept. 22.

Cheetah Goose will compete in the third race Thursday night.

(For full racing details see today's sports pages.)

Enthusiasm spurred by the harness racing will serve as a follow-up for displays and competitions already completed or under way. Top feature of Wednesday's opening night program was the annual band festival.

WITH brilliant colors, precision marching, and toe-tapping music, the festival moved past a capacity grandstand crowd, retaining its laurels as one of the "best sellers" in the annual exhibition.

The crowd overflowed into temporary stands and also stretched along the track railing. Nine high school bands and the Circleville American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps participated.

Budd Harden, a director of the fair board, had charge of the attraction which gave strong momentum to public interest in this year's big show at the fairgrounds.

In addition to the harness racing, a show by the 4-H Saddle Colt Club will also be a feature Thursday night, being set for about 8:15 p. m. in front of the grandstand. Tomorrow at the fair will be Youth Day, with a wide variety of events. A safe-driving rodeo is scheduled to start at 9 a. m.

City Schools Plan Short Friday To Boost Youth Day

Enthusiasm on tap for the Pickaway County Fair's Youth Day activities, planned for Friday, got another strong boost today when it was announced that Circleville city schools will suspend classes early in the afternoon.

It had already been announced that all the county schools will be closed Friday in honor of the fair's Youth Day program.

But for a time it looked as though prior arrangements would make it impossible to close the Circleville schools as well.

The good news today came from George Hartman, superintendent of Circleville city schools. He said it had been decided to close all the city schools at 2 p. m. Friday to permit the boys and girls to attend the fair.

"The city school board wanted to cooperate as much as possible with the fair board," Hartman explained, "and thus ordered the switch in plans."

BRETTON WOODS, N. H. (AP)—At a discussion of bingo at the conference of attorneys general here, Delaware Atty. Gen. Donald Craven declared:

West Shuns Red Promise On Faith

Hard-Boiled Tactics Employed In Dealing With Russia, China

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and its chief Western allies are refusing to take Communist promises on faith. They are employing hard-boiled tactics in current negotiations for better relations with Russia and Red China.

The pattern of Western dealings became apparent today in their manner of handling the United States - Chinese Communist negotiations at Geneva.

German-Russian diplomatic recognition, and Red China's bid for a seat in the United Nations. In effect, it appears that the Western Powers are determined to make concessions or agreements desired by Moscow and Peking only as those capitals actually produce real concessions sought by various Western governments.

The following developments demonstrate this Western attitude which is in line with President Eisenhower's public insistence that the friendly spirit shown in East-West relations at last July's summit conference must be proved by concrete actions:

1. AMBASSADOR U. Alexis Johnson told Red China's Ambassador Wang Ping-nan at Geneva yesterday that "it would be premature" to take up other issues between the United States and Red China until last Saturday's agreement for release of civilians is carried out.

2. German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer made his agreement with Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin for opening German-Russian diplomatic relations subject to approval by the German Cabinet and Parliament.

Bulganin promised Adenauer as part of the deal that German citizens held in the Soviet Union since World War II would be freed.

If the Russians do not take steps to release the Germans with reasonable promptness, Adenauer is in position to stall indefinitely on actually establishing the formal diplomatic contacts.

3. Richard G. Casey, Australia's minister for external affairs, said here Wednesday that he would not sire for a seat in the United Nations should be shelved again this year in the U. N. General Assembly. Similar indications came from U. N. headquarters in New York.

The Western governments realize they possess an effective bargaining weapon in the membership problem and they do not wish to give it up without getting some practical benefits in return.

State Attorneys See Ike Running

BRETTON WOODS, N. H. (AP)—A poll of attorneys general from 34 states brought out the opinion today that President Eisenhower would run for a second term and would win the election.

Of the 34 who voted, 20 are Democrats and 14 Republicans.

Thirty of the 34 said they thought the President would run again. The vote that he would win the election was 20-9, with 5 expressing no opinion.

Twenty-two named Adlai Stevenson as the top Democratic possibility for president.

DROODLES

By ROGER PRICE

"PAJAMAS FOR CROCODILE" The Crocodile is a large, amphibian reptile with a long, scaly tail, a mouth like a picket fence and an unstable personality. The Crocodile has a high regard for Human Beings (it considers them delicious) and its favorite hobby is playing "Floating Log" so it can bite African Big Game Hunters. Many people confuse them with the Alligator which is actually the American version of the Crocodile, but there's a very simple way to distinguish between the two. When you're in doubt, stop a passer-by and ask him exactly what country you're in. If he says "Africa" the animal in question is a Crocodile. If he says "America," it's an Alligator (unless you happen to be on the West Coast, where it may be Liberate).

City Schools Hit By Record Load

Total Enrollment Climbs To 2,443; St. Joseph's List Increases 41

Circleville's public school enrollment this school year zoomed to a total of 2,443—a new record for the city.

In disclosing the new high mark today, City Schools Superintendent George Hartman said it was a little more than 100 youngsters above the total enrolled last year. In addition to the overall increase, Hartman added that 84 pupils were eliminated from entering kindergarten by a change in age requirements.

Enrollment here at St. Joseph's parochial school this year is 144, as compared to 103 last school term.

The record in public school enrollment is in line with predictions made many times by spokesmen for the city school system. Warnings of the gains to come—this Fall and for a number of years ahead—were a big factor in

Early Reports List Champions New And Old

Ideas On Fair Can Win Cash If You Hurry!

Although opening-night visitors to the 1955 Pickaway County Fair declared it to be the most impressive in many years, the public has been asked to submit ideas on how the annual show can be made still better.

The best suggestion submitted will win $25, donated by The Herald. For second prize, the Pickaway County Agricultural Society—the fair board—will give a $15 award. And for third prize, the board will give $10.

Charles Rose, president of the fair board and a tireless worker in behalf of the annual display, emphasized that all constructive ideas will be welcomed—what type attractions may draw larger crowds, what changes should be made for the convenience of the fairgoers, and so on. However, those who wish to submit suggestions have little time left.

The deadline is 5 p. m. on the last day of the fair—Saturday. The suggestions can be turned in or mailed to The Herald for relay to the fair board, but several important rules must be observed. The suggestions must be submitted in writing, and in sealed envelopes. And each must carry the full name and address of the person who submits it.

All judging will be done by the fair board.

Help the fair board give the public an even better fair each year. Hurry those suggestions along—before 5 p. m. Saturday! Send your suggestions to: "Circleville Herald, County Fair Contest, Circleville, O." Please be sure your entries are addressed in this manner.

Eaton Auto Crash Deaths Now Claimed To Be Murder

EATON (AP)—What had appeared to be only an automobile accident in which a man and his wife burned to death apparently had turned today into a mystery that "looks like murder."

Everett Fahrenholz, Preble County prosecutor, said last night that Harold C. Bowman, 49, of near West Alexandria did not burn to death in his wrecked automobile early on the morning of Sept. 4 but died of a shotgun wound in his head.

The exact cause of the death of Bowman's wife, Maybelle, 47, has not yet been determined definitely but Dr. Robert Siehl, Preble County coroner, said "there is a possibility of strangulation." He said microscopic tests of the woman's lungs will be made later. The shotgun wound in Bowman's head was behind his left eye.

Sheriff Floyd Spiller, who conferred last night with the prosecutor and the coroner on the autopsy report, said "it looks like murder but we are continuing our investigation before we reach a decision. If it is murder, there can be only one suspect."

He did not name the suspect.

THE BOWMAN'S foster son, Kenneth, 17, was burned in the fire and still is in a Dayton hospital. He told authorities he crawled from the wrecked automobile after it went over an embankment near West Alexandria.

Fahrenholz said, however, young Bowman's condition has been such that authorities have been unable to question him fully. Hospital attaches said the youth is being held for observation by a psychiatrist, neurosurgeon and an internal medicine specialist.

Dr. Robert Zipf, Montgomery County coroner, performed the autopsies on the Bowmans yesterday after their bodies had been exhumed. Willis Peterson, arson bureau chief for the state fire marshal's office, asked for the autopsies after a check of the burned automobile.

Summer Returns To Middle West

CHICAGO (AP)—It was like mid-summer in wide areas of the central part of the country today.

Southerly winds extending from Texas northward to eastern Montana and the Dakotas brought unseasonably high temperatures to the plains states.

Readings were in the 90s yesterday all the way to the Canadian Border. It was 74 in Glasgow, Mont., this morning after yesterday's high of 96, a record for the date. Other high marks included 101 at Garden City, Kan., and 103 at Guymon, Okla.

GOP Chieftain Raps Dabbling In 'Panaceas'

Ag Agency Boss Hints Plan May Involve Rent Of U.S. Farm Lands

WASHINGTON (AP)—While Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson promised the American farmer a more tasty program, Republican National Chairman Hall today said the GOP would not "dabble in panaceas" as he claimed the Democrats have done.

Hall's statement, saying Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) "is still dealing in bunk," was in reply to Douglas' comment yesterday that "the people can have no confidence in a party that tries to rewrite history and ignore the real world."

The two have been arguing for a week over whether President Eisenhower, as a candidate in 1952, promised to continue farm price supports at 90 per cent of parity.

Both quoted from Eisenhower's campaign speeches. Hall said Douglas "is pulling a typical political trick. He only recites part of what the President said."

Hall said the administration "is going to work night and day to get our farm economy out of the depressed state in which we found it, and I think the farmers of America know that is a fact."

SECRETARY of Agriculture Benson said on his return from Europe yesterday the Eisenhower administration will have some "very specific" recommendations to Congress in January to combat "the farm price squeeze."

Although he declined to go into details, he said one of the proposals under consideration would call for the government to rent some land and take it out of cultivation or to pay farmers for doing the same thing.

Last Friday, the New York Herald Tribune reported that the Agriculture Department is "actively considering" a plan costing one-half billion dollars a year that would call for the leasing of land from farmers.

The paper said the idea behind the plan would be to strengthen dropping farm prices by cutting top-heavy crop production and surpluses.

It said the government would pay $10 to $12 an acre for the land leased and that the farmer would not be allowed to produce any crop for home or market consumption.

At that time, a department spokesman would neither deny nor confirm the report.

tival Wednesday night was handled in highly capable manner by the Pleasantville High School band. The musicians drew repeated applause with their fast swing-step feature numbers.

Next in line came the Rushville Union band, which furnished one of the evening's most impressive moments with an old favorite finale, "The Bells of St. Mary's".

FRANKFORT High School's band was third to show. Its top quality music, enhanced in one number by a difficult broken-beat tempo, drew special notice among the listening throng. Announcer Jim Shea singled out the work of one of the band's snare drummers for particular praise.

Mary Jane McKinley's Union Furnace High School band, small in numbers but long on effort, was the fourth outfit in line. The exceptional work of this relatively small organization has made it one of the annual favorites with the grandstand listeners.

Fifth band to appear proved to be the largest in the festival — the 105-piece West Hocking Local High School band, trim in blue and gold, and very well trained with an array of smooth maneuvers. The "circus" number offered by this outfit provided one of the night's most spectacular shows.

In the festival's list of individual efforts, none surpassed the long series of cartwheels by one of the majorettes at the climax. The crowd applauded vigorously. Amanda's high school musicians proved equal to the difficult task of following the evening's largest outfit.

Amanda's band displayed spirit and skill, including the work of a very high-stepping boy drum major.

The band's music, written with many more parts than most bands its size, was well handled. Many listeners commented especially on the band's rich range of harmony.

THE JACKSON Local School band then "rang a bell" with the crowd with its "square dance" number, drawing loud applause. In size of its members, this outfit was probably the smallest on the program.

In the next-to-last spot among the bands, Ashville-Harrison presented its program from the bandstand. As in previous years, the outfit's music came in for special commendation. An experienced musician commented:

"It's one of the most polished groups of its size I've ever heard. The members are playing with care and talent, and the leader has them under his control constantly."

The famed Circleville High School band closed the list of bands with its customary great assortment of music and maneuvering skill. While the crowd roared its plaudits, the outfit climaxed its numbers with a thrilling rendition of the "Stars and Stripes Forever."

The CHS band this year is led by Drum Major Linda Dresbach, who, along with the majorettes, performed one of the main numbers.

To end the festival, the Legion's drum and bugle corps staged a precision drill with a series of musical numbers. The corps has become one of the best rated in this section of the nation.

Bruce replaced Andy Duvall, last year's top winner, as he showed the champion market lamb and the best heavyweight market lamb. Nathan had the reserve champion market lamb, the best lightweight market lamb and the best ewe lamb in the breeding class.

Andy, however, still garnered some honors. He won the showmanship award, had the champion pen of three market lambs, was third in the lightweight market lambs and second and third in the heavyweights.

Rodney Kissel had the grand and reserve champion ewes, was second in showmanship and took first and second in yearling ewes. Complete results follow:

MRS. FRANK GOFF
Mrs. Grace Young Goff, 59, of Columbus, died at 1 p. m. Thursday in Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus.

Mrs. Goff was born in Pickaway County and had spent most of her life in Circleville and in Columbus. She was a member of First Methodist church of Circleville.

Surviving her are: her husband, Frank C. Goff of 1790 Mooberry St., Columbus; four sisters, Miss Lillian Young, Mrs. Walter Denman and Mrs. Harry Gattrell, all of Circleville, and Mrs. Will Rowe of Los Altos, Cal., and many nieces and nephews of the Circleville area.

Funeral arrangements are being completed by the Defenbaugh Funeral Home.

Conservancy Fund Test Action Fails

A test case, in which a nine-county area is seeking to obtain a refund to taxpayers of money collected for the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy Fund, was dismissed in Franklin County Common Pleas Court. Pickaway County is one of those involved.

A petition, filed by a Columbus firm, sought to impound the money. The Ohio Supreme Court has ruled the conservancy district fund as illegal.

The judge, Dana F. Reynolds, held that Franklin County had no authority to issue such an order because it was not directly involved. Pickaway County Treasurer Bob Colville still holds $15,000 collected here.

Texas Debates Segregation In Schools

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Oral arguments are set for the Texas Supreme Court tomorrow in a key school segregation case which the state attorney general says may affect "every school district in Texas."

The issue: Did Texas school segregation laws fall when the U. S. Supreme Court in 1954 declared segregation of Negro and white students unconstitutional?

Taxpayers of Big Spring, Tex., and the pro-segregation Texas Citizens Council contend state laws are valid despite the U. S. Supreme Court decision and that state funds cannot be used by districts trying to integrate classes. They are appealing a trial court's decision upholding integration of grade schools by Big Spring officials.

Airline Business Totals Booming

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Administration says it expects airlines will be doing more than half of all transportation business in the United States within 10 years.

It said, "Air transport's share of the common carrier market will rise from its current 29 per cent to more than 50 per cent by 1965."

For the fifth successive year, September is being recognized as National Better Breakfast Month. According to a report by a sponsoring cereal institute, five years of research has convinced a team of state university scientists that breakfast skippers of all ages groups rob themselves of potential alertness and efficiency during the late morning hours. From the psychological point of view, the scientists believe that breakfast is an "economic necessity" and that people should manage their time in such a way that permits inclusion of an adequate morning meal in the eating schedule. Dieters are wrong if they think missing the morning meal is a practical way to lose weight. As we go shopping, let's all resolve to decrease the estimate that 40 percent of all Americans neglect their breakfast. The occasional or frequent serving of breakfast "burgers" or "sundaes" might strengthen this resolution. For the "burger, scoop out center of a bun, drop an egg in the depression, and heat in the oven until the egg is firm. (Eggs are prepared in corn beef hash nests in the same manner.) An appetizing sundae results from topping that favorite cereal with vanilla ice cream instead of cream and sugar. Then add to it a fresh fruit.

More money is spent for food than ever before. That old law, that the bigger the family income, the smaller the percentage spent for food, fails to hold true. As incomes have risen, so has the amount of money spent for food gone up—and with a swing toward better diets.

There is a difference in the cost of high living and the high cost of living. The average American throws away about two-thirds of a pound of food every day.

It has been suggested by consumer and economic specialists that more careful buying, better preparation and serving, less accumulation and wiser use of leftovers, and proper food storage can serve to decrease the cost and waste figures appreciably.

And all the while the shopper must never lose track of the fact that there are times to ignore the rules and buy expressly for family satisfaction and enjoyment.

Most shoppers and consumers have recently been enjoyably exposed to barbecued chicken! Modern methods of producing boilers have made eating chicken much more of an everyday affair than it was a few years back. "Broilers" is a term that has come to be applied to most all kinds of chickens except stewing hens. Broilers may range in weight from 1½ to 4 pounds dressed. Extension marketing specialists inform us that this is a good time of the year to buy broilers. If there is storage space for frozen foods, this is the time to freeze chickens. Good quality broilers will keep satisfactorily in the home freezer from three to six months when promptly prepared and frozen. Each pound of cut-up chicken makes ¾ to 1 cup of cooked lean meat. Miss Irene Netz, extension nutritionist, says the following is a good recipe for barbecue sauce (enough for 5 broiler halves): ½ cup cooking oil, 1 cup cider vinegar, 2½ tablespoons salt, 1½ teaspoons poultry seasoning, ½ teaspoon white pepper. Combine these ingredients and bring to a boil.

The food shopper is often faced with the problem of deciding whether or not to buy the whole chicken pieces of her selection.

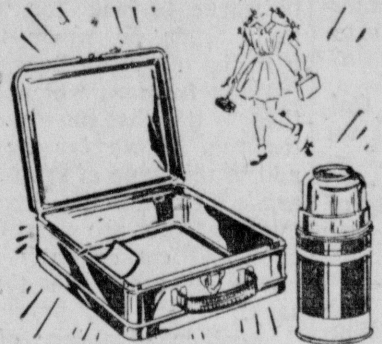

The solution can be aided by considering the price per pound and remembering or referring to the following figures as to the pounds needed to make one pound of edible meat: whole chicken, 3 1-3; backs, 10; wings, 5; legs, 2 4-5; breasts, 2 1-3; livers, 1; hearts, 1; gizzards, 1. Chicken contains fat for energy, protein to build and repair the body and regulate the body processes, vitamins B, B2, and G, and iron and phosphorus. The dark meat is more nutritious than the white, in that it contains more B vitamins and iron. However, when it is cooked, chicken loses 20 to 40 percent of its thiamine and 10 to 20 percent of its riboflavin.

Miss Lissa Given Awarded 3rd Top Juvenile Art Prize

Kent Spencer Shares This Year's Award Spotlight With Work Termed 'Mature' For His Age Of 11

Miss Lissa Given and Kent Spencer were awarded top honors for outstanding work in their respective age groups in the Juvenile Fine Arts Show at the Fair, Miss Given won her honors with a still life in pastel; Kent took top honors among the younger exhibitors with a still life in oil.

This is the third top prize for Miss Given in the annual juvenile exhibit at the Fair, which this year had a record total of 67 entries. She was grand prize winner in The Fair's first showing of Juvenile Art Work, and also took top honors in her age group in last year's competition.

Miss Given, who is 18, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Given. She is a student in Ohio University, at Athens, where she is majoring in art.

The committee and judges of the Coliseum exhibit labeled the still life pastel of Miss Given as "very outstanding, with unusual drawing quality and rendering, really excellent."

KENT SPENCER, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Spencer, won his prize with a still life in oil, which the committee states is "outstanding work for his age and could even compete with older groups."

Dorothea Kutler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kutler, was given a special award in the show for her modern painting, describing her sister in surrealism. This is the only piece of modernistic work in the exhibit.

Miss Nancy Yates was credited with exhibiting the greatest amount of work. She has 11 pieces of art on display in the 6-7-8 age group.

MISS FONTAINE EPPLE, a member of the new Junior Fair Board, assisted the committee in hanging the exhibits. Judges for the event were: Mrs. Naomi Frazer, Mrs. Virginia Faunce Kuhns and Oren A. Webb, all of Chillicothe.

Also on display, but not in actual competition, is an exhibit of 31 pieces done by the members of the Circleville Art League.

Prize winners in the four age groups are listed according to classification of entries as follows:

AGES 6-7-8

Charcoal, pencil: First, Nancy Yates, still life; Second, Lynn Reid, still life done in first art lesson.

Pastel, oil: First, Nancy Yates, still life, done in first lesson in oil; Second, Nancy Yates, pastel still life; Third, Nancy Yates, pastel still life.

Record Of Drain Tile Is Valuable To Any Farmer

Farmers in Pickaway County are finding that an accurate record of the location of installed tile proves very valuable. By keeping a record, the farmer knows exactly where to look for the outlet main when he wants to connect with the other tile lines.

Many farmers which have been tiled in the past have no record of the tile. If the farmer plans to add to this type of system, he generally can find the mains. However, laterals are very hard to locate and consequently he may use many more tile than necessary.

Another advantage of keeping an accurate record of location of installed tile is the monetary value that such a record adds to the farm. Some farmers keep the records with their farm deed. Any prospective buyer of the farm welcomes such a record and will pay more for land which has a complete record of all tile installed.

The Pickaway County Soil Conservation Service offers technical assistance to farmers in designing and preparing a tile drainage plan which a farmer uses to install his tile. It also gives him an accurate record of what tile have been installed and how many more will be needed for his farm.

Don Archer, local farm planner, represents the soil conservation branch in Pickaway County. His office is located at 159 East Main Street, Circleville, Ohio.

Beckoning Industry Boosts College Rolls

Science leads the parade in the demand for today's college graduates.

By Central Press Association

ALTHOUGH soaring birthrates are the main source of seamlifting college enrollments there is another, less measurable factor.

American youths are learning, year by year, that a college education pays off in better jobs and higher salaries.

They also know that there are far more jobs than there are college men and women to fill them and that a college degree is paramount to an employment insurance policy.

The source of this employment hey day is the ever expanding United States economy and the consequent increased demand for the professional and management skills of college trained people.

According to United States census reports, there are four times as many professionals in the United States today as there were in 1900. With college-trained scientists and technicians leading the parade, professional workers have increased three times as fast as the total labor force from 1870 to the present time.

The demand for college graduates by business and industry in 1955 shows an overall increase of nine per cent. A breakdown of the total shows the demand for engineering, chemistry and physics recruits increased by 19 per cent while the increase for all other graduates was two per cent.

A SURVEY of 152 well-known business and industrial concerns that actively seek college-trained men shows that salaries are going up with the demand for graduates.

In 1955 the average monthly starting salary for engineers is $361 a month or an increase of 1.7 per cent over 1954. Salaries in sales are $336, up 2.4; accounting $332, up 2.2; general business $327, up 1.6, and other fields $347, up .6 per cent.

This year at least 1,000 companies sent representatives to the nation's campuses to recruit graduates.

At least 3,000 additional companies carried on modified recruitment programs through correspondence with college placement officers.

THE VALUE of such recruiting to the concerns practicing it becomes apparent in the light of a recent survey made by Northwestern university. The survey disclosed that the recruitment cost per graduate hired averaged $435, although it may range from $50 to $1,200 per graduate hired, depending on the distance and number of schools covered.

Despite these expensive and comprehensive measures, companies are not getting all the graduates they want. The armed forces, of course, are their biggest competitor. It has been estimated that 75 per cent of this year's college seniors have not completed their military service obligations. Returning vets are not of sufficient number to make up the loss of the new graduates to business and industry.

Of the estimated 13,000,000 college-trained Americans in the nation today, according to a survey of all living college graduates conducted with the co-operation of 1,037 educational institutions, 84 per cent are proprietors, executives, managers or professional men compared with 16 per cent for non-graduates.

Census figures show that the income of the non-college men has already started to decline at the 45 to 54 age bracket when the college-educated man is just reaching his peak. Although the college man's income does decline in the 55 to 64 bracket, the rate of decline is much less rapid.

The census figures show, moreover, that in the 55-to-64 bracket the college graduate has an income more than twice that of a non-graduate and in the 65-and-over bracket the graduate has an income more than triple that of the non-graduate.

Sixth Annual Show To Be Held Sunday In Park Of Roses

Pickaway Countians may again gain honors in rose growing competition as several from this area did last year.

The sixth annual Fall Rose Show will be held Sunday in the shelter house and adjacent tent in Columbus' Park of Roses. The Central Ohio Rose Society is sponsoring the event as usual.

There are 19 classes in which exhibitors may enter their roses, with numerous trophies and ribbons to be awarded. Only amateur rose growers are eligible to compete.

The Park of Roses, located north of Columbus on Route 23, will be at the height of the Fall bloom Sunday, according to an announcement from park officials. Two special beds of roses, planted from last year's "best in the Park of Roses" varieties, will be open for inspection.

Economist Claims Many Farmers Too Conservative

A Michigan State University farm economist says that borrowing money to buy fertilizer and other profit-building production items can be good business in the present farm cost-price squeeze.

John Doneth, of the university's agricultural economics staff, says many farmers are too conservative about the use of credit.

Some farmers, he reports, are using makeshift operations when they are actually in position to get a loan and go on to bigger and more efficient operations.

He cites the case of one Michigan farmer who has greatly increased his profits the past several years by going into debt to buy fertilizer.

THREE YEARS ago, says Doneth, this farmer spent only $500 for fertilizer on 250 acres of crop land. Soil tests indicated this was not enough.

The farmer doubled his use of

New Miami Area Lakes Proposed

DAYTON (AP)—The Miami Conservancy District is reportedly planning to build artificial lakes in Miami C and DeGraff in Logan County.

A Dayton newspaper said it learned that plans for the lakes will be submitted to the district's board of directors Sept. 23. The lakes would be about the size of Indian Lake and would offer fishing, boating and other water sports, the paper said.

Farming Planner Notes Interest In Rotation Balance

"More and more farmers are realizing the value of good balanced rotations on their farms," according to Don Archer, local farm planner of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

A number of factors, Archer explained, must be taken into consideration by the farmer in deciding upon the rotation he plans to use. To start with, he must know the type of soil he has and expected yields under various cropping systems.

He must also know the effect of different crops on the land in order that he does not deplete the soil faster than he is building it up. The farmer must take into consideration his personal aptitude, and types of crops or livestock with which he is successful. In planning his crop rotations, he must consider available equipment, labor, and many other items.

After they have decided on the rotations that best suits their needs and the needs of their land, Archer said, successful farmers attempt to divide their cropland so they have approximately the same number of acres in meadows, small grain, etc., each year.

UNBALANCED acres give some farmers an excuse to plow meadow land which should otherwise remain in grass. It often forces them to buy expensive feed to carry their livestock throughout the year.

According to Archer, the most successful farmers in this district plan their crop rotation several years in advance in order to meet their production needs.

GOOD AND CHEAP

COFFEE drinking habits vary markedly from one section to another in the country. This is disclosed by the Pan-American Coffee Bureau, which has conducted a nationwide survey on the subject.

For example, residents of the Northwest Central states like their coffee at home, the bureau says, while residents of the Far West prefer to take theirs mainly in restaurants. Instant coffee is reported to have greatest appeal in the southeastern states. New Englanders are reported more partial to a wide assortment of non-alcoholic beverages, including coffee of course, than other Americans.

It would seem that the Pan-American Coffee Bureau had gone to great pains to reiterate a well established point: Americans are sustained by the brew of the coffee bean. But, as the survey also confirmed, Americans can take their coffee or leave it alone when prices become exorbitant.

Coffee consumption in restaurants dropped sharply, for example, when prices first were raised above the long traditional nickel. Last year's bulb price rise set in motion a hearthside diminution of ardor for the aromatic potion.

Coffee growers should know by now that their commodity will continue to find universal acceptance in the U. S. so long as it's good and cheap. And as far as some people are concerned it doesn't have to be good.

FOOD FROM TUBES

"TOOTHPASTE-TUBE" food may be in the offing for pilots flying jet planes. This innovation is the latest experiment of Mrs. Edythe Robertson, chief of the Air Force Feeding Service Section.

Mrs. Robertson gained fame during World War II by feeding 60,000 men a day for eight weeks on the Southampton docks before D-Day. She also is responsible for the pre-cooked dinner which civilians know as the frozen "TV" dinner.

This tube feeding is advocated by Mrs. Robertson for pilots who fly so high they must wear oxygen masks and are too busy to bother with food when they are low enough to take off the mask. Concentrated solid food is used in the "toothpaste-tube" container which fits into a small aperture in the oxygen mask. A squeeze of the tube brings forth a full-course meal.

Tube feeding is being tested at Wright Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio. It is the latest attempt to iron out dietary bugs that have developed in supersonic aircraft.

Tube food may soon be available for civilians, too. Several firms are experimenting with the idea and some of the first foods to be "tubed" are jellies and preserves.

These Days

These mountains in Massachusetts and Connecticut do not have large rivers or raging streams. It is a quiet land. It was these streams that went wild, expanded into broad rivers, carrying down millions of tons of rock and rubble, dumping the debris on farms and roads, tearing down houses.

So now we know what can happen in these peaceful mountains. It may not happen again in our lives and we shall forget and the politicians will somehow consume the money voted for river improvement and flood protection.

On the other hand, we discovered what an amazing people we are. Simple, quiet men suddenly became heroes. Most of us think of Civil Defense as something that has to do with the Russians bombing us. But we discovered that all of a sudden our neighbors were the Civil Defense.

They manned the parapets. There was Clifford Clark, farmer and innkeeper and head of Civil Defense of Otis, who belabored the Otis Dam. Nobody here ever thought of Clifford Clark as a man of tremendous action, but there he was, with strength and knowledge, holding that dam which, had it given way, the devastation in the Farmington River Valley would have been ten times what it was. He and David Judson, farm and ski-manager, graduate of Yale, had set up a radio walkie-talkie which worked and which made communications sure.

There was Dr. Henry Erbe, little man who rides a hundred or more miles every day looking after the health of Otis, New Boston and Sandisfield, working around the clock while ducks and helicopters brought in the stricken. There was Charlie Allan, First Selectman of Sandisfield, riding through the night warning the people to leave their homes—riding, through rain and storm, on roads turning into rivers, saving lives.

I could go on naming names, but there is no room. I am describing the alertness, the initiative, the self-sacrifice of what we suddenly discovered was a Civil Defense organization cooperating with what our people call "the Blue Boys," the State Police, who too were busy saving lives, rescuing people, fighting death rather than misbehavior.

And then the Red Cross stepped in. And in each of our little towns there was a Red Cross station, mostly in a church. And quickly there were cots to sleep on and hot coffee to drink. It was enough because there was nothing else. And soon the Red Cross was functioning both on a volunteer and a professional basis, not only providing relief but laboring for long-range rehabilitation.

If you were to travel from West New Boston to Campetti's farm just south of New Boston, the havoc in so small an area, normally less than 10 minutes by car, is beyond belief. Campetti's alfalfa and corn fields have been cut to ribbons, large gullies running in all directions. This farm had been the pride of the young people in our area because two youngsters had married and put heart and loins into making it a wonderful New England farm of the old days when this was good agricultural country. It is a desert now, covered with gravel, sand, boulders, and torn to shreds.

cadet" material are likely to blossom out in tailoring changes to make the cut of their uniform a bit more in step with the dictates of style.

They may also get a stripe of colored braid instead of the black trim which is the present postal mode. And there is talk of discarding the traditional gray shirts in favor of blue.

MARRIAGE for THREE

By: ELIZABETH SEIFERT

Copyright, 1954, by Elizabeth Seifert. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

IT WAS a gay meal and a gay evening followed. Pinky was pretty and amusing. She teased Ann about her southern accent, and Ann laughed, "You must be from the north if Missouri talk seems southern." At this Pinky's pleasant face sobered, her mouth stopped smiling—and she was more beautiful than ever. A smile made her face vividly radiant; without it her face glowed like candlelight.

"I don't think about my past," she said soberly. "You see, my marriage didn't work out. I had counted on it so much and—it just didn't work."

She glanced at Adam. "It probably was my fault. I was only eighteen, and I do like fun. Rod—" Her shoulders lifted in a shrug. Her pretty brows drew together. "How can a woman be extravagant when her husband has a million dollars?"

"Wow!" said Adam again. "It was certainly enough," Pinky assured him, "so that a few bills shouldn't have mattered." Then she tossed her head and her bright hair flew out, and settled into new patterns against her throat. "It wasn't the money. He was a spoiled brat, an only son. There was his mother and his grandmother and dozens of aunts and cousins and they didn't any of them like me. Of course not. They wouldn't like any woman their precious Rod might have married. And anyway, I'm not particularly a woman's woman."

Ann and Adam laughed at the face she made.

"Well, of course, it was disillusioning to know that romance could be figured in dollars and cents, but—I'm well out of it, I suppose. Only, I'm sorry that I made a mistake in the man I chose. I think love and marriage are the most wonderful experiences of a person's life, and when they foul up—well, what else is there that can be grand?"

"You'll meet someone," Adam assured her.

"Well, of course," Pinky continued in a wisely resigned tone. "I don't mean to let it end my life. That's why I'm trying to settle on a pattern. Oh, Adam, would you build me a house?"

He blushed a fiery red. "That's my business," he cried, and laughed in a hooting way that made Ann turn and look at him. Pinky ran her tongue around one cheek.

Then she turned enthusiastically to Ann. "Does that really mean he will?" she cried. "Oh, Ann, tell me it does!"

"How about that, Adam?" asked Pinky.

"I'll get Ann's house built first," he told Pinky, "and then we'll talk about yours."

"All right," she agreed cheerfully, "but do let's get started on Ann's!"

Adam smiled and nodded. "We will. I'll tell you—Sunday, we'll take a drive, look at some houses and get some ideas."

They took that drive, and they had a lot of fun with the truck, and with Ann's inability to realize distances in New Mexico. One could ride along a flat stretch of road, see what looked like a town nestled against what Ann still called hills, and suggest that they turn off there for Cokes...

"What do you mean turn off?" Adam protested. "That's twenty miles away."

"Oh, it can't be! Why, you can see horses—and—men?"

"How big?"

"My goodness," said Ann. True enough, the houses and the figures looked like toy models on a sand table. The Sandia mountains—Ann's "hills"—rose grandly behind those tiny evidences of man.

Clouds clustered upon the summits, their shadows scuttered across the mesa.

They saw homes, the square, flat adobe houses of the country, most of them walled-in patios. Ann delighted in the colors of them.

But there was one log house which brought out Adam's pencil and pad.

He stayed with that design, that idea. And before Ann knew how serious he was, he had bought a piece of land and was beginning to build her house. That was all right; she liked the plan. It required a hill. But to locate it in a canyon, a half-mile from the highway, five miles from the main streets of Santa Fe...

That had been Pinky's idea, and Ann was upset that her suggestion had been accepted rather than Ann's own taste in the matter.

The setting was attractive, the view magnificent, but Ann had heard some hair-raising stories about flash floods. Besides, she didn't have a car. She guessed the canyon site was all right, but...

She mentioned her two main worries to Pinky, who briskly disposed of them. "You're well on the up-side of the canyon, darling. And as for a car, Adam will get you one."

"If he thinks of it."

"Well, you'll surely see that he does think of it, won't you?"

Within a week, Pinky and Ann pulled revealing close against her hip and thigh, and when the two girls went down the street together, Adam leaned against the door frame, watching them, and told himself solemnly that he was in love.

Head over heels in love. With Pinky Haggard. And he sure meant to do something about it, too.

Linda had never been like this. He'd not felt this way about her. He'd dreamed over her, and imagined things—thought up situations—but with Pinky he'd not mess around with dreams. He'd do the things that came into his mind, express the thoughts which now sent his blood pounding through his veins, and his feet into a little dance step on the tiles he promised to scrub and wax for Ann.

Citrus Fruit Supplies Substance For New Drug

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

BLACK eyes and other black and blue marks will no longer cause embarrassment, evidently, because of a new discovery.

A New York doctor has found a way to help the body resist bruises and clear them up quickly once they do occur.

Dr. A. Lee Lichtman says the treatments are designed especially for athletes. In fact, many of those treated in the tests, he explains, were athletes appearing in Madison Square Garden, down the street from Manhattan's Polytechnic Hospital.

To Prevent Bruises

To thwart bruising, he suggests that athletes be conditioned before their encounters with hesperidin—a substance found in citrus fruit, especially in the meaty sections—and ascorbic acid (Vitamin C). Used together, these derivatives from citrus fruit strengthen the capillaries, the smallest blood vessels in your body.

A bruise, you must understand, is mainly a mass of damaged capillaries which permit blood to leak into surrounding tissues.

Result of Blow

Even if they are functioning well, capillaries will break under a heavy blow. However, Dr. Lichtman reasons, healthy capillaries will resist damage better than fragile ones.

Once bruises are caused, Dr. Lichtman advises an injection of the purified enzyme trypsin. He prefers to give the injection in the buttock as soon as possible after the injury. Although medical science doesn't know why, the trypsin speeds to the affected area and reverses the inflammatory process.

Early Treatment Important

He reports that black eyes and other bruises suffered by boxers subsided in one to three days instead of the normal ten days to two weeks.

Immediate treatment is important. Once the black and blue coloring sets in, Dr. Lichtman says, treatment is ineffective.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

C. T.: I had my gallbladder removed about eighteen months ago. Three weeks ago I developed a pain in my stomach, under my shoulder blades and in the right side. What do you think could be causing this?

Answer: It is impossible to tell from the description given the cause for the pain.

Frequently, following the removal of the gallbladder, pain is due to spasm of the bile duct may have formed in the bile duct.

You are in need of a careful study to determine the exact cause for your difficulty.

Closed TV, A New Industry

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—American industry today has more frontiersmen than the Old West ever knew.

These Davy Crocketts of the business world are pioneers with a new idea or a new product to sell.

Nate Halpern, who dresses and looks more like Clark Gable than ole rifle-totin' Davy, at 40 is the founder and chief promoter of a new multimillion-dollar off-spring of the video industry called Big Screen Closed Circuit Television.

"It's a terribly long name for a basically simple thing," he admitted.

Halpern isn't interested in the nonpaying home viewing TV spectator. He sets up networks over phone lines which enable him to:

1. Televise to paying theater audiences big sports and special entertainment events too costly for any advertiser to sponsor. Example: The Marciano-Moore fight, which Halpern predicts will draw "the first million-dollar TV box office gate in history."

2. Replace expensive business conventions, which cost some firms up to $1 million a year.

It is as a new tool for business communication that Halpern expects closed circuit television to make its greatest success.

"It is estimated that businessmen spend $45 million a year on transportation alone going to conventions, and an additional $216 million for room, rentals, meals and entertainment," he observed.

Halpern doesn't expect to destroy the tradition of conventions (people always need to meet each other face to face), but in many cases he feels closed circuit TV can do the job better and cheaper, particularly for giant corporations.

"A convention may take up the time of top executives for days or even weeks," he said. "Over a TV closed circuit management can get over its messages to all its employees or stockholders in a few hours."

Last June he set up a network on which an oil company's executives introduced and demonstrated a new kind of gasoline in a one-hour program to 14,000 dealers gathered in 30 cities.

Other closed circuit networks organized by Halpern have enabled him to:

Televise 16 championship fights.

Give a citywide examination to teachers for the New York City Board of Education.

Brief doctors in 40 cities simultaneously in the use of a new drug product.

Televise three performances of the Metropolitan Opera.

Help a large corporation hold its largest shareholders' meeting.

Demonstrate to salesmen and scattered factory workers the workings of a new electronic brain.

Halpern, who is almost as tall as a TV antenna himself, once bounced basketballs for the University of Southern California.

He went on to Harvard Law School, became a Navy ensign, served as a psychological warfare specialist on General Eisenhower's SHAEF staff in Paris.

Pickaway Countians Attend 38th State 4-H Club Congress

Four-Day Event Is Held In Columbus

"Improving Family and Community Living" was the theme of the 38th annual 4-H club Congress which was held this week on the Campus of the Ohio State University, Columbus.

Ten Pickaway County 4-H club members and advisors attended the four-day program, which consisted of discussion, forums, speakers, tours and recreation.

"You and Your Government" was a special project during which the members and advisors visited the state House of Representatives for a mock session. For Pickaway County, Bob List of Monroe Township and Miriam Ward of Scioto Township, assumed the role of their own representatives.

The bill for discussion was: "a bill to encourage and assist public secondary schools in the development and guidance of counselling services."

The fee for advisor representation was donated by the Ohio 4-H Club Foundation. The member quota of five delegates from Pickaway County was sponsored by four cooperative business establishments in the county.

Those attending the Congress were: Mrs. Scott Radcliff, Mrs. Berman Wertman, Mrs. W. D. Purdin, Miriam Ward, Constance Wertman, Zoe Dell Riggins, Bob List, Bill Barthelmas, and Mrs. Frank Graves and Sidney Graves, who were awarded the trip by the Ohio State Fair.

Maung Hla Sein, and Maung Ko Ko, International Farm Youth Exchange Students from Burma, who are visiting in Pickaway County, were part of the personnel of 4-H Club Congress.

Women's Society Member Reports On Mission Visit

Mrs. Frank Hawkes gave a report on her visit to the mission field in New Mexico during a regular monthly meeting of the Women's Society of World Service of the First Evangelical United Brethren church.

Mrs. Hawkes listed the work of the church, school and hospital at the mission in her talk during the session, which was held in the church service center.

The meeting opened with group singing. Mrs. Montford Kirkwood Jr. gave the theme of the year, offered prayer and conducted a short business session.

Donations of clothing were given by the members, to be sent to the church World Service. Handmade money bags are to be collected during a Fall institute of the group.

A worship center, featuring an open church showing people coming from worship, an open Bible and lighted tapers carried out the theme of the topic, "Christian, What of the Church?"

Mrs. Mabel Estep, topic leader, gave opening thoughts and meditation on the Christian compulsion, in a sense of direction, mission and companionship.

Use canned pineapple filling to spread between layers of white cake (plain, angelfood or sponge). Follow the directions on the can for preparing the filling but add finely diced syrup-preserved ginger (to taste) after you have prepared it. The ginger tastes best when it is not heated but added last in this way.

'DOUGHNUTS' MAY GIVE EDUCATORS SOME ANSWERS

Economy of this design may help alleviate classroom shortage.

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

CHICAGO—The little red schoolhouse sinks farther into the limbo of the past in the face of a new "glass doughnut" design for schools by an architect here, Edo Belli, which is being widely hailed as the answer to the nation's critical shortage of classrooms.

Far from being just a visionary design for a school of tomorrow, the new circular school plan actually will be in operation this September for the first time when the St. Patrick high school at Kankakee, Ill., opens its doors.

Constructed in record time, which also is credited to the ingenious new layout, the new school is being built at a cost of $636,300 to house 900 students.

Two other new schools reflecting the new shape will be built immediately in this area, the $750,000 St. Francis high school in suburban Wheaton and a $213,000 addition to the St. Patrick high school on Chicago's west side.

EXTERIOR WALLS will be virtually entirely of glass, surmounted by black steel roofs and with a circular gymnasium in the center with bleachers for 1,800 surrounding a basketball floor, which the architects promise will be a conventional rectangle, however.

Around the gymnasium is a circular corridor which will open onto classrooms shaped like the cuts from a pie. With the teacher's desk at the point of each amphitheater-shaped room, the acoustics are said to be perfect and the pupils' attentions are focused upon the instructor.

School boards throughout the country struggling with the problems of providing sufficient new classrooms to cope with the overall increase of 23 per cent in the school population last fall and the estimated million and a half more elementary and kindergarten pupils who are expected to trudge to school this fall for the first time over the total that reported last September, are even more interested in the economies that are said to be inherent in the new design.

THE COSTS for the three schools here are running at 68 cents per cubic foot and $720 per pupil, compared with prevailing costs in this area for conventional school construction of $1 a cubic foot and about $1,000 per pupil for elementary schools and considerably more for high schools.

Many schools throughout the country are going on a "shift basis" this fall, with separate student bodies for morning and afternoon because there are not enough classrooms or teachers available.

School authorities estimate that only 50,000 additional classrooms will be available this fall to offset last year's shortage of 370,000 classrooms. With the school population scheduled to skyrocket during the next half century according to every census indication, many educators wonder if they ever will catch up with the facilities needed.

The versatility of the circular school design may provide the answer, some of them believe. Glass doughnuts can be superimposed one upon the other to provide multiple-storied schools, with ramps instead of stairways.

With administrative offices located in small annexes outside the present circles, it is planned that clusters of these schools may be built in the future.

The St. Francis school at Kankakee will have 24 classrooms, four laboratories, special rooms for domestic science, rooms for arts and crafts, a library, cafeteria and gymnasium, all reflecting the ultimate in new school design.

Buying Feeder Pigs May Pay Off, Save Equipment

Buying feeder pigs may be the solution for farmers who can't afford to house or provide labor or equipment to fatten as many pigs as they can profitably feed out for market.

According to the nation's live stock publication, the Nationale Live Stock Producers, there's a limit to what you can afford to pay and still make a profit feeding them.

It's best to get paper and pencil and do a little figuring before making any decisions. There are four things to consider: What price are you expecting to get for market hogs? How much does the feed cost? How much feed will it take to get your pigs to market weight? What costs are you going to have—labor, equipment, veterinary or death losses?

The answers to these questions will give you a good idea of what you can pay for pigs and still make a profit.

The farmer who buys his pigs has the advantage of only having to predict what is going to happen four months ahead. The man who must decide in September how many sows to keep for breeding purposes is actually trying to predict the market a year ahead.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frying chickens and chuck roast will be attractively priced for bargain-hunting housewives in the nation's food stores this weekend.

There will be featured prices on many other meats, too. Among the more popular: prime ribs, round steak, fresh and smoked hams, turkeys and stewing chickens.

Pork chops will cost you more, and leg of lambs are generally higher than a week ago.

Although turkeys are being featured by a number of markets this week, there are signs that prices will go higher because production is off from a year ago.

The American Meat Institute notes that more meat is in prospect for the fall season than ever before and adds that "prices, especially beef and pork, are expected to be continuously attractive values at the retail meat counter."

The price of eggs is climbing again. In many stores, a dozen grade A whites will be up two cents or more.

Produce specialists list corn, sweet potatoes and cabbage as good buys, although they add that cabbage is a bit on the high side.

Leist and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Fetherolf and other relatives and friends last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Stump was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Shride.

Supplies of vegetables from nearby areas are getting lighter and there's a tendency for prices to move higher.

Counterfeit Bills Made In Prison

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A bold bid by three Alabama convicts to manufacture $5 bills in the Draper Prison printing shop has landed the trio in Kilby Prison's maximum security section.

They actually printed four or five spurious bills before the plot was discovered, said Draper's Warden Burr Reeves, but due to lack of suitable ink and paper, the bills were too crude for the convicts to risk trying to pass them as money.

The prisoners were transferred to Kilby last week pending further investigation by Federal authorities.

Cleveland Girl Drowns In Tub

CLEVELAND (AP)—Five-year-old Lynn Deby drowned last night while taking a bath at her home. When her mother, Mrs. Connie Deby, called upstairs to tell the children dinner was ready, 4-year-old Jan answered that "Lynn's sleeping in the bathtub." The father, Dr. John Deby, rushed upstairs and took the girl's body from the tub. Attempts at artificial respiration failed. She apparently had slipped in the tub and knocked herself unconscious.

WASHINGTON — The Eisenhower administration—for reasons not explained—has taken a harsher tone toward the Russians than it used in the early weeks after Geneva in July.

The latest example is the State Department's opinion on German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's deal with the Russians this week. The department considers it a victory over the "bankrupt" Russian policy toward West Germany since the war.

On July 25, the day after his return from Geneva, Eisenhower said there were obstacles on the road to peace but added there is now a realization negotiations can be conducted without "propaganda, threats and invectives."

There were no pleasant words for Russia in the tough and stiff statement by the State Department.

Russia and West Germany agreed—in writing—to resume diplomatic relations and to exchange ambassadors. Adenauer says Russia also agreed—but not in writing—to release German war prisoners still held in the Soviet Union.

In a way this can be considered a victory: the Russians, who had denounced the West German government while supporting their puppet Communist leaders in East Germany, now officially recognize West Germany.

This can hardly make the East German Communists feel good, seeing Adenauer's prestige boosted by Moscow. It may make them feel shaky. No wonder Russia, immediately after Adenauer left, called them to Russia for a heart-to-heart talk.

But the State Department may be crowing too soon. Neither the department nor anyone else at this time can be certain about the full implications of the deal, since no one knows the Russians' long-range purpose.

In the first place, it was not a one-way street. Adenauer and the Russians both made concessions. He wanted the prisoners released. The Russians, for whatever their purpose, wanted to resume diplomatic relations.

Both sides got what they wanted. Releasing the German prisoners costs the Russians nothing. They had them for trading purposes any time they were needed. And this seemed to be the time.

Now the Russians and West Germans, through the exchange of ambassadors, will be able to deal directly with each other instead of as before through the ambassadors of the Western Allies.

This gives the Russians a better chance to woo the West Germans away from their allies. If Adenauer ignores the wooing, then his successor, when the old Chancellor dies or retires, may be more receptive to Russia.

On Aug. 24, a month after returning from Geneva, Eisenhower made a much stiffer speech than he delivered July 25. Without mentioning Russia by name, he said Russia had to make a lot of concessions if it really wanted peace.

Vice President Nixon followed this up with a speech along the same line, but even tougher: a demand on the Russians to begin making concessions. The Russians carefully didn't criticize Eisenhower but they denounced Nixon.

The Eisenhower administration may feel this sterner tone is necessary because it thinks the American people are getting too optimistic about the chance of peace.

But it also prepares the public

1,300 Ohio Aides Join In Walkout

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Nearly 1,300 Ex-Cell-O Corp. employees at Lima and Fostoria plants were idle today because of strikes.

The strike of 4,000 employees at the Lima plant was called unauthorized by the CIO United Auto Workers. The Lima contract does not expire until today, but workers began walking off the job Tuesday night and pickets were posted yesterday.

Employees at the Lima plant, which manufactures auto and aircraft parts, reportedly walked off in anticipation of a contract negotiations breakdown.

Ex-Cell-O employees in Fostoria, where the contract expired Sept. 1, posted a half-dozen pickets soon after 225 workers walked off the job yesterday. The night shift of 45 stayed out.

The Ohio strikes were triggered by the walkout of 3,500 Ex-Cell-O employees at the company's main plant in Detroit Tuesday. The UAW said the Detroit strike stemmed from its demands of a layoff plan and other benefits recently won from other auto industry firms. Contract negotiations, which began Aug. 29, broke down, the union added.

Ministers Urged To Be Cautious

OBERLIN (AP)—Caution against competition among churches in rural communities was voiced here by the Rev. Ross Noffsinger of Springfield.

Addressing the convocation on the Town and Country Church, Rev. Mr. Noffsinger said the church with the most life should be left to serve the total needs of the community.

"In other words," he said, "in many marginal areas all of us need to take an honest look at the situation and then act according to our best knowledge. In other areas, the same type of community, we need to press forward with aggressive leadership."

Akron Painter Admits Posing As Patrolman

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A 26-year-old Akron house painter yesterday admitted he stopped motorists on the highway, posed as a state highway patrolman, and collected their "fines" on the spot.

Gerald P. Hanna pleaded guilty in Boston Heights Village Mayor's Court, and was sentenced by Mayor Francis E. Thomas to 60 days in jail and $100 fine.

He was arrested by real highway patrolmen after a motorist who refused to pay a "fine" took down Hanna's license number.

The motorist said Hanna explained his lack of uniform by saying he was off duty.

"We don't know how many motorists going between Akron and Cleveland he stopped," a patrolman said. "We would appreciate it if those he did stop would let us know."

Columbus Shelves Store Milk Idea

COLUMBUS (AP)—City health officials have tabled an application of the Kroger Co. at Cincinnati to ship its own packaged ice cream to its Columbus retail outlets.

Dr. Ollie M. Goodloe, Columbus health commissioner, said action was deferred pending revision of sections of the city health code dealing with milk products.

Dr. Goodloe said some reciprocal agreements are in effect between Columbus and other cities on milk products. But, he said, health officials generally prefer supervision of packaging in their own areas. He added that Cincinnati does not accept milk products from "anybody else."

'Mystery Man' Freed By Army

BERLIN (AP)—The U.S. Army has released "mystery man" Klaus Friedrich Glaubitz and turned him over to the German Red Cross.

The Army got Glaubitz last week from Soviet authorities, who had held him for years in various prison camps under the name Frederick Charles Hopkins.

He was interrogated by U. S. Army intelligence, which had difficulty determining whether he was an American, as the Russians said, or a German, as Glaubitz claimed.

Glaubitz' story was proved last Saturday, when his father, living in Hamburg, sent photos identifying Glaubitz as his son.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am greatly interested in my daughter-in-law and what she is doing to her life, and to those who try to love her. Joyce was 16 when she married my son—knowing little about housekeeping and caring less. She is a good girl; and she was reared in a Christian home, in an atmosphere of love and mutual respect.

Dick is a fine person and we, his parents, have been humbly grateful for God's help in making him so. Because he loves, he puts up with great trials in his marriage. He is a farmer and after long hard days of work he has to fix his own meals. His wife stays abed, reading magazines, letting unwashed dishes and housework pile up.

Now they have a baby, who doesn't get half the mother-care he needs; and as he is subject to asthma, I fear that Joyce may learn too late just how much he means to her.

I feel she is getting only crumbs of the full happy life she might have, and it is such a pity. Once in a while I get a glimpse of the wonderful person she could be; and I've sometimes wondered if it would help if I chastised her. But all my life I have heard of interfering mothers-in-law and I was afraid that I might express my concern the wrong way if I spoke out; and I do love her very much.

I am not the mom-type. I am not jealous and selfish. I've prayed for her, loved her and put-up-with. But since she has begun to show disrespect to me, I feel I just must do something to save my affection for her. Can you help me, please?

K.P.: You say you are affectionately interested in your daughter-in-law, concerned to waken her to full happy living. I believe that. But it looks to me as if she is a hopeless case—unless and until she cooperates to help herself.

She should face the fact that her performance is subnormal; but still remedial, if she will exert herself (1) to understand the meaning of her negativism; and (2) to practise recuperative attitudes.

A full discussion of the biological and social bases of Joyce's brand of lackluster behavior is given in anthropologist Ashley Montagu's latest book. It is titled "The Direction of Human Behavior," with the subtitle: "A scientific confirmation of the enduring belief that human love is essential to all human growth." The book is published by Harper & Brothers.

On page 259 we find this relevant statement: "Whenever we meet with a failure to function as an adequate human being we may be certain that the cause or causes are to be looked for in the love relationships of the person during the first six years of his life. It is through the means of love that the infant first develops a consciousness of himself in relation to an social relationship. By being loved the child learns to love."

Conversely (see page 261): "Selfish behavior is produced as a result of (adult or maternal) failure to cooperate with the infant. . . . failure to stimulate it towards altruistic behavior by being altruistic (that is, devoted) towards it."

Will To Love Is Remedy

So Joyce's problem is recognizable and its causes known in a general way. And the cure is known too, once the ailment is understood. "Emotion follows action," psychology finds; thus the cure is to act deliberately as if one loves—borrowing from the sympathetic example of genuinely loving persons, until one gets on the beam of really loving from the heart.

Home Loan Banks Restrict Lending

WASHINGTON (P)—The 11 federal home loan banks have been directed to impose "immediate restrictive action on lending operations" on their approximately 4,200 member savings and loan institutions.

The step, taken by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, is in line with other credit tightening actions by the Eisenhower administration, particularly in the housing field.

Board Chairman Walter W. McAllister announced that the home loan banks have been directed to advise their members to follow loan programs which will meet demands out of savings and loan repayments.

Autos Hike As Result Of Labor Increases; Coffee Edges Upward

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Prices of a wide variety of things from automobiles to coffee continued their creeping advance this week.

The higher price tag on cars reflected higher wage rates and increased cost of metals.

In coffee the blame was laid on a temporary shortage of green beans in the market here—due partly to earlier confusion over Brazil's currency policy and partly to a shipping tieup on the U. S. East Coast by idle longshoremen.

Price hikes spread through many sections of industry. Another maker of stoves is raising the price of gas ranges by 5 per cent.

A furniture manufacturer is upping prices by 3 per cent. This also follows a widespread trend in the industry.

Fuel oil prices as well as those of coal have gone up. A cement manufacturer has raised his prices by 25 cents a barrel. Wholesale prices of work clothing are going up.

A $1 a ton increase in the price of scrap iron is reported in the Midwest.

All of these—and similar increases on other industrial materials in recent weeks—will slowly work their way through the manufacturing industries and then come up with their final test when and if retailers try to raise prices on consumer products.

The price hike on 1956 model cars is a typical example of what is happening—and why. The first of the new models to be priced are the 1956 Lincolns. One is going up by $10.90, but another is going up by $243.90. In the industry there is talk of an average 5 per cent hike in prices on next year's models.

Auto makers say their costs have gone up: first, because of the pay increase they agreed to last summer; second, because of the increased cost of steel and other metals, also traced at least in part to pay hikes.

But the prices the auto makers are setting on their new models are "suggested" retail prices. Many a buyer of 1955 cars knows that the suggested list price isn't the one he paid.

Whether the dealers will be able to make the new higher suggested prices stick any better is the question.

Archer Commends New Regard For Drainage Ditches

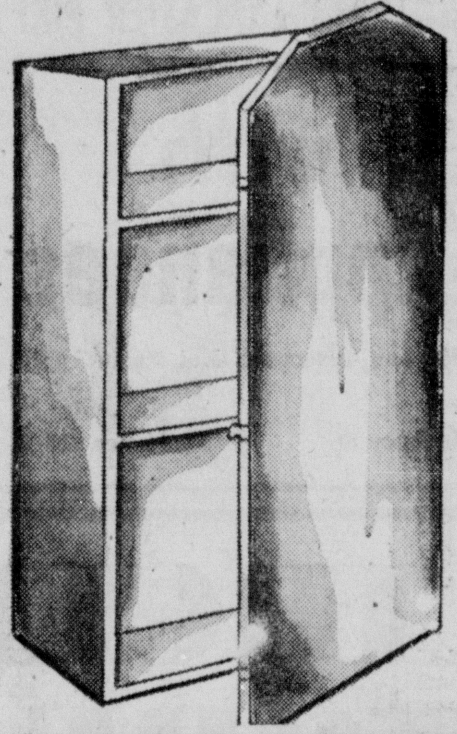

"Many farmers in the Pickaway County Soil Conservation District are realizing the value of maintaining the drainage ditches which flow through their farms." This statement was made by Don Archer, soil conservationist for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, after reviewing the progress of the district over the past ten years.

He recalled that in the past, many open ditches were never touched between clean-outs. Clean-outs were necessary every eight to ten years under this procedure. After the second or third year, brush and willows began to clog the channel. From this time on, the stream flow is retarded and the channel begins to silt up.

Archer pointed out that farmers are finding that it is much less costly to control brush that is small, by spraying with brush-killer every year or so than it is to cut young trees from the ditch banks every eight or ten years.

During spraying operations, it is also possible to note minor repair jobs needed, he added.

The U. S. Bureau of Mines was founded in 1910.

4 Leaf Clovers Prove Expensive

SPALDING, Neb. (AP)—Emil Kavalec is another granddad who underestimated granddaughter. He promised little Charlene Kavalec he would pay her a nickel for every four leaf clover she found in granddad's front yard. Charlene called in playmates Ollie and Max Muller. And in a half hour they collected 130 pay-off clovers — $6.50 from granddad's pocket.

19-Year-Old Bill Paid To Doctor

NOWATA, Okla. (AP)—A man walked into Dr. S. A. Lang's office, opened his billfold and handed the receptionist 25 dollars. "That", he explained, "is payment in full for delivering our baby girl 19 years ago." The bill, the man added, had been on his mind for a long time. The daughter now has a child of her own and he thought it high time the debt was paid.

Sokolsky's These Days

This is something nobody ever says in these parts and nobody knows how to handle. When people are hungry, they can be fed, but when the top soil is gone, what does one do? We thought it was a terrible calamity when a company came and tore through farm and woods, laying a pipe-line and leaving the land scarred. Our farmers feared that their cows might break their legs in that swath, but, in time, nature healed that and grass grew and the holes filled in and the cows did not break their legs.

But how does a gully heal? How to cover the ground with soil that will again yield corn and alfalfa? And into that problem entered the Red Cross to help rehabilitate our people. It is only to be hoped that a better way will be found than suggesting to our people to leave their land to brush, to move elsewhere. What we have of our native population are those who came here from the Hartford Colony to protect it from Indians and who have stayed here since because they loved the wild, granite mountains covered with pine and maple.

Disney Says He's Cautious About Autograph Hounds

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP)—Walt Disney swung his car up to a side gate of Disneyland and was scrutinized by a guard who then waved him through with "Hi, Walt!"

The creator of the fabulous amusement park was greeted that way by many of his employees as he tramped around the place in an hour's tour. Quite a few of the children recognized him from his TV show and asked for autographs. Before assenting, he would glance around.

"It's all right to stop if no one else sees you," he confided. "But if you start to draw a crowd around, you can never get out."

He started the tour in pioneerland, hopping onto a keelboat named the Gullywhumper which was tied along the river shore.

"We used two of these in one of our new Davy Crockett shows," he said, inspecting the craft. "I'm going to fix them up for riding on the river, along with our paddle-wheeler, the Mark Twain. I also want to get some Indian war canoe. The kids'll like that."

Disney then climbed on the coal car of the freight train and conversed with the engineer. As the train circled Disneyland, he talked of some of his plans for the place—plastic Indians to be hidden along the stagecoach ride, a Mickey Mouse club circus at Christmas.

"On, yes. No doubt about it. Attendance has been very satisfactory. Our only problem is adjusting the attendance, so crowds don't pile up at one time and thin out at others. During the summer, for example, weekends have been lighter than weekdays. Everybody thought they would beat the crowds by coming on Monday and Tuesday."

2-State Automobile Has His, Her Tags

POTEAU, Okla. (AP)—Lorren L. Williams, a newspaper editor, had to buy two license plates for his car, owned jointly with his wife, who teaches school across the border at Mena, Ark.

This means the Williams' home for school purposes is in Arkansas, but for ranch and retirement purposes, his home is listed in Oklahoma. Authorities in Arkansas ruled the Williams' car must have an Arkansas tag and Oklahoma officials say it must carry an Oklahoma tag.

The family car now carries both —Arkansas for "her" and Oklahoma for "his".

Bush-Beaters Due To Chase Elephant

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—A posse of bush-beaters tried today to flush Vickie, the wayward elephant, from her wooded hideaway here.

Vickie, 6 years old and 2,300 pounds, has holed up in a strip of woods 400 feet wide and nearly a mile deep since she wandered away from a Charlotte amusement park Sunday. She has resisted all attempts to drive her out.

Trainer Johnny (Smoky) Strickland decided to try an African bush-beating technique. The posse was to set up a hue and cry, coupled with the beating of drums, in a march through the area.

4 Women Die In Warren Crash

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—A car collided with a truck near here last night, killing four elderly women from Sharon, Pa., and critically injuring another.

The dead were Miss Grace Royal, about 67; Mrs. C. L. Dix; Mrs. Nellie Bischoff, about 73, and Mrs. J. A. Shoemaker.

The accident occurred on Ohio 7 south of Vernon Corners. The highway patrol said the two vehicles collided almost head-on.

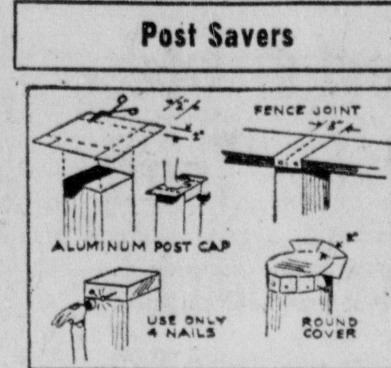

Cleveland Milk Prices Going Up

CLEVELAND (AP)—The price paid farmer's for milk has risen to $4.46 a hundredweight, and a retail increase of a cent a quart can be expected Oct. 1 in Cleveland.

The price to farmers is up one cent a quart over a month ago, the largest rise since April when milk prices turned upward for the first time since 1952.

Jump From Tree Fatal To Boy, 10

DAYTON (AP)—Ten-year-old Rodney Kent Duckham, ordered to get down from a tree, jumped and was fatally injured yesterday near his home here.

Fence posts capped with sheet metal keep rain from soaking through to rot the inside and flat tops eliminate pointing or sloping posts tops says Reynolds researchers. Easily worked do-it-yourself aluminum sheet never rusts and makes the job simple. For square posts, snip corners using ordinary scissors. Fold edges with flaps down first, then fold flaps around sides of post and cover them with flap from top. Only four aluminum nails, one through each corner flap, hold cap on. Cover end of round posts by cutting out disc as shown and snipping out pie cuts. Overlap with nail through each corner all around post.

Coroner Dr. Robert Zipf said a branch broke off and struck the boy on the neck as he landed.

County Contributes For Special Fund

Pickaway County was only one of eight areas in Ohio which contributed to an emergency polio fund recently.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis rushed more than $1 million, raised through donations from county polio chapters, to areas hard pressed by August's rising toll. Money for this operation came from 528 chapters in 45 states and Puerto Rico.

Others in Ohio listed as donors included: Butler, Fairfield, Jefferson, Ottawa, Perry, Vinton and Washington Counties. Those receiving aid in Ohio included: the city

Senators Put Indian Sign On Indian '9'

Cleveland's AL Lead Shaved Game By Loss To Pesky Washington

The Associated Press
Ray Narleski, Cleveland's fireballing fireman, finally made a nip-and-tuck with it, the Indians may have lost their footing in the race for the American League pennant. Washington revived the Indian sign it's had on the Injuns for one parting shot Wednesday night, handing the 26-year-old right-hander his first defeat of the season while dumping the Tribe 3-2.
That sliced Cleveland's lead to one game over New York, a 6-4 winner against Detroit. More important, it left the two clubs even in the lost column with eight games remaining for Cleveland and 10 for New York.
The White Sox, four games behind, muffed a chance to move closer by splitting a double-header at Baltimore. The last-place Orioles won the opener 8-2 before being stopped by Billy Pierce 6-0.
Boston, filling seven of New York's remaining dates, all but faded away in a 7-3 defeat by Kansas City that left the Red Sox seven games back.
Washington, only club to best Cleveland over the season (13-9), was stopped cold by Narleski in the seventh after chasing starter Herb Score with three straight singles that tied it 2-all. But in the eighth, the Nats finally got to the guy who had run up nine victories, all but one in relief, and had saved 20 others for the Tribe.
Jose Valdivielso, a .225 hitter, did it with a double after Pete Runnels had opened with a single and moved up on a sacrifice.
In the second inning, Roy Sievers had become Score's 228th strikeout victim, a major league record for a rookie. Score working with two days' rest, wound up with nine for a total of 235. Grover Cleveland Alexander held the old mark, whiffing 227 with the Philadelphia Phils in 1911. Alexander set it in 367 innings. Score, a 22-year-old southpaw, broke it in 214.
Detroit scored twice in the first, but New York came back with three off Ned Garver in its half to take charge. Don Larsen, winning his eighth on a five-hitter, then blanked the Tigers 'til the ninth, when Charley Maxwell hit a two-run homer. Gil McDougald homered in the first and tripled home another run in the second.
Hank Bauer delivered the winning blow, a two-run homer in the eighth off Babe Birrer, third pitcher for the Tigers.
Baltimore racked Chicago's Dick Donovan for 10 of 14 hits while Jim Wilson shut out the Sox until the ninth when Bob Kennedy homered with one on. In the nightcap, a scratch run broke up a duel between Pierce and Bill Wight in the fifth. Three more runs in the eighth wrapped up Pierce's 13th victory and fifth shutout.
Boston was walloped by Gus Zernial, who powered two homers—one a tie-breaking grand-slammer off loser George Susce in the eighth—for six runs batted in.
Brooklyn's National League champs lost their fourth straight, beaten 3-0 by St. Louis behind Tom Poholsky's three-hitter. At Milwaukee, the Braves clubbed the New York Giants 9-2 with a pair of two-run homers by Del Crandall and George Crowe. Willie Mays smacked two for the Giants, tying Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski for the lead with 45.

Minnesota Gridiron Team Shows Lack Of Experience

By JERRY LISKA
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—Minnesota's football coach, Murray Warmath, drew off four or five names at every position.
"It sounds good, doesn't it," said the former Mississippi State mentor. "But the more names you can mention at a position, the weaker it usually is."

Archie Moore Unworried About Weight Problem

NORTH ADAMS, Mass. (AP)—Archie Moore claims a secret formula for shedding pounds fast without sapping strength but he is outspokenly confident that he won't have to resort to it again.
"Heavyweight champions don't have to make weight," said Archie, "so why worry about that?"
That was the light heavyweight champion's reply to a question of whether he thought he could make 175 pounds once more.
If words were deeds Archie would have to be considered a cinch to dethrone heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano in Yankee Stadium Sept. 20.
Furthermore, the brawny veteran believes he will be speedier at 185 pounds for Marciano than at the 175 he scaled June 22 when he flattened Bobo Olson in the third round of a light heavyweight fight.
Moore said he weighed about 189 before yesterday's two-round boxing session with Jesse Brown and Johnny Jenkins and expects to pare off about four more pounds.

with the Tribe as general manager since November 1949.
Mike Wilson, president of the Indians, noted that since Greenberg has been on the job the Indians finished fourth in 1950, second the next three seasons, first last year, and are at the top now. Their games-won record in the past five seasons added up to 481, which Wilson said was only 12 less than the New York Yankees and two more than the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Graduation wiped out 19 lettermen, including one-man gang Bob Mc Namara, from the surprising 1954 Gophers, who fashioned a 7-2 record in Warmath's debut at Minnesota. The Gophers play a nine-game schedule again this season.
"We have fewer experienced players than any team in the Big Ten this year," Warmath said in referring to some 24 sophomores who must be blended with 15 returning lettermen, only four of whom are holdover starters.
"Everybody says we have depth, but that's all we do have. It's not reasonable to pick up any place but the lower bracket in the conference."

The loss of right halfback Mc Namara deprived the Gophers of one of the finest competitors Warmath said he has ever coached.

"Besides his terrific talent," said the Gopher coach, "his inspirational leadership made us click. We can't possibly replace him."

However, Bob's smaller brother, Dick (Pinky) Mc Namara, returns at left half and with Darrell (Shorty) Cochran at right half afford Minnesota a pair of excellent scat-backs, who will be operating behind a typically behemoth Gopher line.

Pinky is 5 feet, 9 and weighs 166. Shorty stands 5-9 and scales 169.

"I hate to think," said one Gopher observer, "what will happen when Mc Namara and Cochran try to stop Purdue's Lamer Lundy (6-6) or Michigan's Ron Kramer (6-3) from catching passes."

The starting Gopher line probably will include Tom Juhl (200) and Franz Koencke (221) at ends; Erle Ukkelberg (211) and Bob Hobert (238) at tackles; Capt. Mike Falls (217) and soph Bob Rasmussen (203) at guards; and Dean Maas (222) at center.

"We'll have good-sized Minnesota tackles, but they won't catch any rabbits," quipped Warmath. No. 1 quarterback is Don Swanson, a third-stringer last year, but soph Dick Larson may develop "in a spectacular sort of way," Warmath hopes.

Pre-Tourney Favorites Still In Running

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The 55th National Amateur Golf Championship is just as unpredictable as its predecessors, but its fairly safe guess that when the finalists walk to the first tee Saturday one will come from the group of pre-tournament favorites.

Going into today's double-knock-out third and fourth rounds, most of the favorites still were on hand. Some, like Harvie Ward, tabbed by his rivals as the world's best amateur golfer, almost had the daylights scared out of them, but they won.

But perhaps the most noticeable feature of the remaining field was the predominance of players in the over-40 and 20-or-under age brackets. At least a dozen of the 64 survivors confessed to the over 40 age and a lot of others were close to that figure.

The in-betweeners included the 29-year-old Ward; Joe Conrad, a sprightly 25-year-old Air Force lieutenant; 31-year-old Jimmy Jackson and 32-year-old Captain Bill Campbell from the U.S. Walker Cup team; and Hillman Roberts, 23, the sectional qualifying medalist and an impressive winner yesterday.

Then there were ex-champions Ted Bishop and Willie Turnesa, who are flirting with the older age group, and Jimmy McHale, 39-year-old former Walker Cupper. They're scattered through the draw so at least one of them stands a good chance of going all the way.

Omaha To Meet Minneapolis '9'

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Omaha, advancing to the American Assn. final playoff with a 9-2 decision over Louisville, meets pennant winner Minneapolis here tonight.
The playoff champ in a best-of-seven series plays the International League winner for the Little World Series title.

'Smallest' Fish Record Claimed

NORWICH, England (AP)—Bill Gunson claimed the world record today for the SMALLEST fish ever taken on a rod and line.
Gunson, secretary of the Fakenham Angling Assn., made his tiny catch while engaged in a fishing contest. Placed on a druggist's scales, the little flatfish weighed six-thousandths of an ounce.

The report gave no details as to how Gunson landed the little fish, or even how he could see it.

CHS Meets Athens Here Friday Night

Tigers Will Try To Avenge Defeat Suffered In Last Year's Opener

Circleville High School's Tigers hope to avenge last year's 20 to 6 defeat Friday night as they play host to the Athens Bulldogs. Kick-off is at 8 p. m.

Athens, last year, scored the first two times they had the ball. But CHS recovered from its apparent doldrum and dominated play in the second half. The Tigers scored one TD but had another one nullified in the game, as did the Bulldogs.

Coach Steve Brudzinski says he does not have much advance information on Athens. In the 1954 game, the Bulldogs' Mike Hamilton and Ron Corradini ran rampant through CHS.

If an observation made last year comes true, then the Tigers have something to hope for. In the 1954 contest, many observers felt that with a few breaks the Tigers might have come out the victors.

CHS, according to Brudzinski, seems to have more "spark" this year. This is in spite of the fact that the Tigers have switched to a split-T formation.

Many fans feel that if CHS can tack Friday night's opener into the victory column, they might build up enough confidence in their new system to more than better their miserable 2-6 record of last year.

Nearly the entire starting CHS lineup is made up of experienced gridders. In absorbing drubbing after drubbing, the best excuse offered was that CHS was too inexperienced—after all, practically the entire 1954 team was made up of juniors.

Naturally, a lot depends on how well the Tigers can master their fundamentals which the coaches are constantly drilling them in. Fans will well recall how some well placed blocks could have sprung the backs loose, and how fumbles cost the Tigers dearly in opportune situations.

In scrimmages, the Tigers have shown that they can muster up a respectable offense. On defense, Brudzinski can throw in enough weight to harrass opposing backs and force the opponents to stall their offense.

IN LAST Friday night's preview, which was well attended in spite of little advance publicity, the Tigers showed up "much better than I had expected," according to Brudzinski. He noted that he was in "good shape" as far as linemen generally were concerned. But, he added that there might be a problem of depth in the backfield.

During the preview, Brudzinski used his first string backs with his second string line. He said this arrangement worked "surprisingly" well, but quickly added that circumstances are very different in playing another school.

Brudzinski said he would naturally have to do a lot of experimenting before he found the "right" combination. He said he was pleased to see some reserve team boys performing well.

"We won't be world beaters," Brudzinski said, "but we'll have a lot of fun. It's important for the boys to enjoy the game."

CHS will have another home game the following Friday night when they play host to tough Linden McKinley. Linden took a 30-13 decision from CHS last year.

Bears Favored To Defeat Browns '11'

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Bears are six point favorites to end a seven-game string of losses to the Cleveland Browns in a pro football exhibition tonight at Soldier Field.

With a running attack led by Bobby Watkins, former Ohio State star, the Bears will be trying for their first victory over the Browns since Cleveland entered the National Football League in 1950.

It will be their only chance this year. The two teams do not meet in regular season play.

Watkins, who scored the only touchdown and gained 77 yards in the Bears' victory over the New York Giants, will start at halfback along with Rick Casares of Florida.

The Browns, with three halfbacks out on injuries, may be forced to rely on an aerial attack with Otto Graham and George Ratterman throwing. Halfbacks Dub Jones, Dean Renfro and Bob Smith are injured, and the starters will probably be Ray Renfro and John Pettibone.

Ed (Big Moe) Modelewski, recently acquired from Pittsburgh, will start at fullback for Cleveland. Coach Paul Brown said he wants a good look at him.

The Browns will be trying to break a string of three straight exhibition losses. They have beaten only Green Bay in five pre-season games. Last year's exhibition tally was lousy, but the Browns won the crown.

Stengel Hopes For 2 Losses By Cleveland

NEW YORK (AP)—Manager Casey Stengel thinks his New York Yankees can win the American League pennant if Cleveland loses two of its remaining eight games.

The grizzled pilot was in a speculative mood after yesterday's 6-4 triumph over Detroit that moved the Yankees within a game of the front-running Indians, who lost to Washington 3-2.

"Well," he said happily, "it looks like our pitching finally has straightened out. That Larsen pitched a good game today. That gives our pitchers four complete games in a row. That's the first time it's happened this year."

"Now if Cleveland should lose two games and we win all ours, we ought to win the thing."

Stengel's reasoning was sound but his arithmetic was a bit off. Two Cleveland losses would give the Indians a final record of 96 victories and 58 defeats. The Yankees with an 88-56 mark, thus could afford to lose one of their remaining 10 games and still finish one game ahead of Cleveland. Two defeats would mean a deadlock for the flag, necessitating a one-game playoff.

Rocky Says He's In Top Condition

GROSSINGER, N. Y. (AP)—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano allowed today as he is in the best shape of his career.

He said he intends to start out fast against Archie Moore next Tuesday when he defends his title in New York.

"I feel as though everything is working out perfectly for this fight," said the champion. "I feel better than ever before."

"I plan to start real fast. Not like the first fight I had with Ezard Cahrles when I didn't get untracked until the sixth, not like the Don Cockell fight when I took much too long to get going. I'm going to do the equivalent of five rounds of boxing in the stadium dressing room before the bell."

Marciano has boxed 107 rounds so far in his training for Moore. When he winds up Sunday, he'll have worked 118 rounds. For his second bout with Jersey Joe Walcott, he went 250 rounds in training. He drilled 208 for Roland La Starza and 189 for Cockell.

"This time I haven't worked so hard or so long," he said, "and there is no sign of staleness whatsoever. I was trying to do too much in those days. No, I take time off whenever I feel I need it. The new program has worked wonders."

Redlegs Sell Staley To Yankee Outfit
CINCINNATI (AP)—Gerry Staley, veteran right handed pitcher, was sold to the New York Yankees yesterday by the Cincinnati baseball club. He reports immediately.

Staley, who has won five and lost eight this season, was taken by the American League club via the waiver route.

He formerly was a star hurler for the St. Louis Cardinals, but has had two successive unimpressive seasons. The Redlegs obtained him last December from St. Louis.

Staley started 18 times this year, pitched 2 complete games, and allowed 146 hits in 120 innings. He struck out 40 batters. He is 32.

Youngstown Due To Test Cleveland
YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—Unbeaten Youngstown takes on Cleveland tonight in the National Amateur Baseball Federation tourney.

The only other team left in the 42nd annual tournament is Atlanta, Ga., which drew a bye.

The Youngstowners, who are defending champs, piled up a 12-4 victory last night over Erie, Pa. The winners put together seven hits, a wild pitch and an error for seven runs in the fourth inning.

In other games, Atlanta edged Pittsburgh 4-3 and Cleveland trounced Flint 11-6.

Ohio Weekend Fishing Due To Be 'Good'

COLUMBUS (AP)—Cooler weather of the last week has perked up Ohio fishing prospects considerably, the state wildlife division reports. Prospects for the weekend are good in almost every section with water conditions good to perfect, the division adds.

Northwestern — Streams almost all clear and somewhat low. Fishing pressure very light and few fish being caught. Both Lake St. Marys and Oxbow Lake in good condition, with bass and catfish taken.

Southeastern—Fishing picked up somewhat due to cooler weather and number of Muskingum district lakes, including Piedmont, Clendenning, Tappan, Leesville and Atwood, should show increased activity during week. The fall bass fishing in these lakes is usually good, and with water condition almost perfect, fisherman should find fine fishing for next few weeks. Most streams in good condition.

Central and Southern — Most streams and lakes in fine fishing condition and many of the lakes including Delaware Reservoir, Buckeye Lake, Rocky Fork Lake and Jackson Lake are perfect with the outlook very good. Most heavily fished streams such as Big and Little Walnut, Big and Little Darby, Blacklick and the Kokosing are clear. Fishing prospects very good.

Southwestern — Both lakes and streams clear, although most streams below normal. Such lakes as Grant, Kiser, Stonelick, Cowan, Indian and Loramie in perfect condition, with some bass, bluegills and catfish taken. Prospects good.

Two homers by Willie Mays of the Giants and one apiece by Del Crandall and George Crowe of the Braves last night put the older major league's total at 1,195. The standard is 1,197 home runs set in 1956.

Television Fan Disappointed As Godfrey Returns To Air

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—A recent issue of a television fan magazine says that this man once was idolized by the American press. Now he is not. The man is Arthur Godfrey.

Godfrey returned to CBS-TV with his Talent Scouts program Monday evening after a long summer vacation. It would be interesting, one viewer decided, to try to look at Godfrey with a fresh eye. View him, if possible, as if he were just beginning in television.

The program began and the man came on. He had, he said, gained 10 pounds. It was, he said, the result of drinking too much tea in cans. (One of his sponsors is a tea company.) He named various makes of beer (which do not sponsor him) as being labeled on the cans from which he drank this "tea with foam on it." He drank this tea, he said, while hunting antelope in the West during vacation.

One began to fidget uneasily. The man displayed no wit as he kept talking. Here was a man back from a long vacation who had the opportunity to start anew with verve. But he had no verve. He seemed bored with his show but not with Arthur Godfrey. Eventually he began to seem contemptuous. The contempt boiled over when he read a commercial for a make of television tube with adolescent cuteness, throwing away the script with a sneer.

"Well, I won't have to read that again till next June," he said.

Henry Morgan, an entertaining gentleman who's had more downs than ups on television and radio, is an adept and delightful kiddier of commercials. But he laughs. He does not sneer. I was about to say the sneer has no place in entertain-ment. Then I remember that Godfrey is a household word and Morgan is less widely known. I don't get it.

Mill Expansion Heads List Of City Permits

More floor space—7,000 to 8,000 square feet of it—is being added to the J. W. Eshelman and Sons Feed Mill, according to a report of recent city building permits.

The project, estimated at $40,000, is scheduled for completion in 30-45 days. A company spokesman said that this is the first such type of expansion the firm has made since the end of World War II.

Other city building permits issued recently include the following:

Sam Cook, 408 E. Mound St.; garage, $450.

Burt Wiggins, 437 Ruth Ave.; garage, $700.

Countians May Apply For Duty In State Patrol

Applications by Pickaway Countians to join the State Patrol are still being accepted under the recruitment program launched six weeks ago, Patrolman Gene Miller, local officer stationed at Circleville, announced today.

"The ranks of the Patrol are being expanded as rapidly as possible to meet the increase in personnel authorized for the organization by the last General Assembly," Patrolman Miller said. "Also, the Patrol must add 60 men to replace those being assigned to duty on the Ohio Turnpike."

The legislature increased the maximum strength of the Patrol from 650 to 700 and also authorized the organization to enter into contract with the Ohio Turnpike Commission to supply an adequate number of men for turnpike duty. The men assigned to the turnpike are in addition to the 700 authorized uniformed patrolmen.

Patrolman Miller said approximately 25 men will graduate from the present Patrol Training School at Columbus in approximately eight weeks and will be assigned to immediate duty with the Patrol. (One is expected for this area.) He said continuous schools will be held until the maximum strength is reached and the men assigned to the turnpike are replaced.

THE CURRENT recruitment is the first in a year, according to Patrolman Miller. Applicants may obtain applications at any Patrol

Post or Headquarters, he added. Requirements include: minimum height of 5 feet, 8 inches, weight, 165 pounds or more; 21 to 35 years old; high school graduate or equivalent; U. S. citizen; resident of Ohio at least five years; exceptionally good physical condition, and good moral character.

Applicants appointed to the Training School, located south of Columbus, are paid $176 per month during the 14 week course. Trainees live at the school during their training and uniforms, meals and lodging are furnished.

5 New Study Groups Set By Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Legislative Service Commission, fact-finding arm of the General Assembly, today appointed five study groups. One is to delve into political contributions by labor unions.

House Speaker Roger Cloud (R-Logan) commission chairman, named Rep. Elton Kile (R-Madison) as chairman of a nine-member committee to conduct the inquiry into the labor union situation.

Sen. Charles A. Mosher (R-Oberlin) was appointed chairman of a group to study school fund equalization within counties and public school finances.

Rep. Walter T. Gardner (R-Williams) was named chairman of a group which will make a continued study of drainage problems.

Sen. Delbert L. Latta (R-Mc-Comb) will head an inquiry into juvenile delinquency.

Rep. Kenneth F. Berry (R-Coshocton) will be chairman of a committee to study annexation and other metropolitan area problems.

At the last session of the Legislature, Kile failed to win approval of his bill to ban political contributions by unions. The same ban now applies to corporations.

The House then passed a resolution for a study of possible changes in laws governing such contributions by Jan. 15, 1957.

Kile's bill died in committee before ever reaching the House floor.

It was opposed by labor organizations.
